VOL. 5. NO. 33 — MONESSEN, PA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1906. — SIX CENTS THE WEEK

A SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION.

Large Attendance at Annual Conference of A. M. E. Church and Full Program Rendered.

One of the most successful conventions of the Washington district of the A.M. E. church will be brought to a close with this evening's session. Ministers and representatives from the various churches of different towns in four counties have gathered in Monessen and are contributing in various ways to make the affair one of the most successful of its kind ever held by the church.

Wednesday morning's session was called by the presiding chairman, Rev. C Wright. Devotional exercises were conducted, followed by prayer by Rev. S Christian. Papers were then read as follows: "Life"—by Miss S. Ferris o Belle Vernon and Miss Louise Johnson of Belle Vernon. The papers were to the purpose and full of inspiration and excellent thought. General discussion followed and this closed the morning session Adjournment followed.

The afternoon session opened by devotional exercises being conducted by Rev. R. Brown of Charleroi. After selections by the convention, ritualistic services were then taken up by Rev. C. Brown of Pricedale A. M. E. church. After the close the convention took up the papers according to program.

The Wednesday evening session was opened by the Belle Vernon choir of the A. M. E. church singing a selection, after which the convention was led in prayer by Rev. C. F. Calvan of Washington The program was then taken up consisting of a paper by Miss Bertie Fitch of McGovern, subject "The Sunday School Workers and Their Qualifications." The second paper was read on "Should there be a limited number of pupils in a Sunday School socia l? by Miss A. Lethia Sperret of Greensburg.

These papers were presented full of practical good thought to the convention The third paper was to have been read by Mrs. Stokes of Greensburg but in her absence, Miss Nora Daypon of Union town, read on the subject, "Are the Sabbath Schools as Progressive as they Should be?" A general discussion followed.

The completion of the subject, "Are the Schools Prospering" by Miss Minnie Ford was read. Motion that the papers be discussed in the morning carried The collection was next taken, $10 08 being realized. The choir of Belle Vernon under Prof. Spriggs did excellent work by choice songs full of spirit.

The program for morning was next read. Motion for adjournment carried Among the delegates not mentioned in addition to reports yesterday were as follows: Miss Bertie Fitch, of McGovern Pa.; Miss Mary West, of Charleroi; Miss Lavada Bird, of New Haven, Pa.; Miss Anna Rose of Donora; Misses Mary Phares and Louisa Johnson,of Belle Vernon.

Thursday morning session opened by devotional exercises, being led by Rev. J. Skerreit of Greensburg. The election of officers then took place.

This evenings program will bring the convention to a close and a general impression of those in attendance is that much credit reflects to Rev. S. A. Lewis the local pastor and his congregation for the able manner in which the affair has been conducted.

A Fistic Encounter.

Tom McKenna and James Bursey two structural steel workers from Pittsburg who are at work at the Pittsburg Steel Co., got into an altercation today and McKenna struck Bursey in the face with his fist. Bursey then went before Squire Shuster and made information against the former for disorderly conduct. He was arrested by Constable Watts and will be given a hearing this evening.

SPECIAL RATE FOR PICNIC.

Street Car Company Will Give Special Rate to Lynn's Grove for Merchants' Picnic.

C. L. Schuck, chairman of the committee on transportation for the merchants' picnic, which will be held in Lynn's grove next Wednesday, has interviewed the street car company with reference to additional service for that day. The company has agreed to put on extra cars for the accomodation of the crowd and to grant a five cent fare to the grove on the special cars.

These cars will leave Donner avenue and Fifth street at 9, 10 and 11 o'clock and will return during the afternoon. On all other cars the fare will be the same as always, five cents to Belle Vernon and five cents from there to the grove, so in order to take advantage of the reduced rates, it will be necessary to remember the starting hours of the special cars. This courteous action on the part of the street car company is commendable and will be greatly appreciated on the part of the merchants and citizens of the town The other committees are at work with vigilance and a full report will likely be ready for publication by tomorrow.

TWO ARRESTED LAST NIGHT.

For Carrying Concealed Weapons and Both Dealt with Justly.

Andy Feryaki was arrested last night by constable Watts on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was found about 11:30 o'clock on Schoonmaker avenue between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets and searched. A 32 caliber was found on his person and he was hauled up before Squire Shuster this morning. He plead guilty and was bound over to court in the sum of $200 bail.

Frank Soter was found near Ninth street about the same time by officer Wheatley discharging his weapon. He was arranged before Burgess Shutterly this morning and fined $12 and costs. Officer Woolsey then entered a charge agatust the man for carrying concealed weapons and he was held for court the bail being fixed at $200 The officers are determined to break up the practice of carrying dangerous weapons and every person who is suspected will be arrested

SKIDDOO PEEK-A-BOO.

The peek-a-boo waist has come but not to stay. It is a natural law that what comes must go and however much we admire the tender sex costumed in transparency we must say in poetical strians:

Oh Shirt Waist of the Peek-a-boo,
Which draweth such seductive glances,
A ban has been placed upon you
To check your lightning like advances.
The straight-laced ladies of the town
Against the custom now are knocking;
Upon the breezy waist they frown,
And brand its architecture "shocking"!
Alas! 'tis "23" for you,
Oh, Shirt Waist of the Peek-a-boo!

Oh, Shirt Waist of the Peek-a-boo,
So cool, so cute and so inviting,
This ban—the pity 'tis 'tis true,
Your popularity is blighting!
The summer girl will be besought
Thy filmy charms at once to sever'
And future rising females taught
To put thee far away forever.
Back to the uncut! Hike! Skiddoo!
Oh, Shirt Waist of the Peek-a-boo!

Oh, Shirt Waist of the Peek-a-boo,
Shorn of thy one-time power and glory
What local ladies say of you
Cannot be called commendatory.
Thy tantalizing, natty front
From curious, prying eyes the'd banish
Because its dreamy depths is wont
To draw the gaze of optics mannish.
And so we bid thee long adieu,
Oh, Shirt Waist of the Peek-a-boo.

CHURCH IS GROWING.

Will be Three Years Old Next Sunday and has Over One Hundred Members.

The English Lutheran church of Monessen will be three years old next Sunday and during its time of existance has made remakable record considering the number of churchs in Monessen and the size and age of the town.

Rev. M. M. Albeck organized the church and is the present pastor and through his untiring efforts and persistant and active work the present membership now exceeds the one-hundred mark and is still growing. Next Sunday, the third anniversary of the church, a special service will be conducted and the pastors sermon will be somewhat of a review of the work up to the present time.

The Sunday school is at present arranging for a picnic to take place in the near future but no definite time and place have as yet been fixed At a meeting of the church council Tuesday the resignation of D. I. Seifert who has served as an elder in the church since its organization was read and accepted and Jacob Feightner elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Seifert resigned on account of leaving the city. A full set of officers were elected to serve the year: A. W. Davis, treasurer property fund; Dr. Wilson, president church council; J. B. Smith, supt. Sunday school; C. W. Morris, asst. supt.; Adam Horn, secretary; A. W. Davis treasurer; Mary Smith, organist.

F. O. EAGLES AND FRIENDS.

Had Very Pleasant Time at Social Banquet Last Night.

The local aerie Fraternal Order of Eagles tendered a very delightful banquet in the social rooms on Schoonmaker avenue last night. About fifty persons were present quite a number of those being close friends of the members of the order. The evening was spent purely in a social way and those present enjoyed real genuine hospitality such as the Eagle brothers are capable of furnishing. A bounteous supper was served and spread on the festive boards in a manner "fit for the gods to eat."

Spring chicken, froge legs and turtle soup constituted only a minor portion of what the table was loaded with. Frank Bumbaugh acted as toastmaster and filled the prominent place with ease and dignity. A number of the guests were called upon and gave impressions for the delightful manner in which the affair was executed. The local order never gave a more enjoyable banquet and social session than was given last night, and those who were present express the hope that it may be the result of similar events in the future.

What They Think of Him.

Burgess Shutterly, of Monessen, advocates ball and chain sentences for the class of rowdies who have been terrorizing that community recently. Furthermore the burgess says he will endeavor to secure the passing of an ordinance making such punishment lawful. And why not? Fear of punishment of this kind would have an effect on the rough element that fines or costs or short jail sentences would never have. A few examples with the ball and chain and the lawless element would think twice before they went on the kind of rampages they have been indulging in recently—Monongahela Republican.

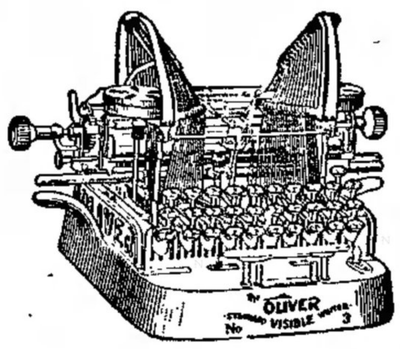
THIS TYPEWRITER
DELIVERS THE GOODS

It's the Oliver—the Standard Visible Writer.

The Oliver Typewriter is just like an athlete stripped for a race.



It is free from unnecessary multiplicity of wires and springs

No net work of flimsy keys to get tied into hard knots

The nimble fingered stenographer can put talk into type with this machine just as rapidly as she takes your dictation.

For no matter how swiftly she writes, she can see just what she's doing.

The keyboard is so wonderfully responsive to the touch of the finger tips that speed comes without effort.

The factors that make for speed are its visible writing, its light, elastic key-touch, and it's all 'round simplicity. It has the fewest possible wearing points, and it prints with a downward stroke.

The OLIVER Typewriter

THE STANDARD VISIBLE WRITER

is a flawless piece of mechanism, combining the strength of tested steel with the perfect adjustment of the work of a watch. You can use an Oliver a life time and the type will not lose alignment

It never suffers from nervous prostration; requires only a little oil and plenty of exercise to keep it at the highest point of efficiency.

The hum of Oliver Typewriters is heard in the most progressive business houses in the land. Sales increasing at a phenomenal rate. Get acquainted with the Oliver! Write for the Oliver book—we send it free with our compliments.

My Checkered Luck

[Original.]

"It's too bad."

"I am dreadfully sorry, my dear young lady. It could not be helped."

"I have been counting on this story to give me a literary reputation. You have ruined all these hopes."

This was ridiculous. The story was below the average.

The truth is that Howkins, the editor and proprietor of the magazine, had no business to go away and leave me, a scatter brained youngster, in full control. I had hosts of friends, and my mind was absorbed with youthful pleasures. As to my work at the editorial rooms, Howkins had arranged everything before his departure, so that there was nothing to do but take the copy for the next issue out of his desk and send it to the composing room. Among other copy I sent up a story called "What's It All About?" by Miss Mildred Eaton. I was locking my desk one Friday afternoon preparatory to going into the country till the following Tuesday when a message came down from the composing room that the story "What's It All About?" was incomplete. I called for the copy and found the last two chapters missing.

Here was a pretty kettle of fish. I ransacked the office without success; sent for the author and was informed that she had gone on a trip, no one knew where. What was I to do? Give up my outing to search for a needle in a haystack? Not I. My resolution was taken. It was then 2 o'clock. By 4 I could skim the manuscript, by 6 I could write the last chapters and be ready for the 7 o'clock train instead of the 3 o'clock, as I had intended.

Had I taken more time and put my mind on my work instead of dwelling on the outing I was to have, afraid all the while that I would miss the train—the last till the next morning—I might have done fairly well. As it was I made a frightful mess of the job. I mistook the hero for the villain and brought the story to a close by putting in his mouth a high flown, virtuous enunciation. The heroine I made to take a back seat, but fortunately on the same bench with the hero. I finished the work at half past 6, gave it to a composing room messenger who was waiting for it, and made a dash for the train.

Well, the story came out, and with it came the author, a pretty girl of twenty, who sought me in my office with tears in her eyes. Had she stormed I could have stood up against her manfully. As it was, I could only pretend to weep, not at the position my blunder had placed me in, but that I should have ruined her hopes of literary fame. I told her that I seriously meditated drowning myself. Since I made the threat with my head buried in my arms, both head and arms resting on my desk, my whole body shaking convulsively, she feared I would carry it out. When she raised my face with her own soft hands and I looked into her tear dimmed but forgiving eyes, I was filled with shame.

"My dear Miss Eaton," I sobbed, "let us hope that out of this misfortune may come some reparation for you which, taken at the flood, will lead to fortune. I am one of those fellows whose lives are a chain of lucky and unlucky incidents. I am constantly meeting with misfortune my own fault, I dare say—but I always come out ahead in the game. Write a new story, and I will use all my influence with Mr. Howkins to have it published as a 'special feature.' Now tell me that you forgive me."

She put out her hand, smiling through her tears, and went away, leaving me to go on repenting my carelessness.

When the first batch of criticisms for the story of the magazine came in I braced myself to hear the references to the tale I had ruined as one about to be executed nerves himself for the ordeal. With the first I caught a faint gleam of hope. Here it is:

The story by Miss Eaton, "What's It All About?" is, judging from its name, what it is doubtless intended to be—a puzzle. What principles are covered under the strange ending probably only students of the introspective school will be able to explain satisfactorily. In this respect the story will excite great interest.

The next was evidently a criticism by some critic who was possibly hurrying, as I had done, to the country and had only skimmed the early part of the story, for he pronounced the ending "just what might be expected in this inferior class of work." The third spoke of the pleasant style in which "What's It All About?" was written—an easy way of criticising a story the critic is too busy to read. Seven critics gave but pathetical explanations of the mystery attending the closing chapters. In the whole batch of criticisms there was not one which indicated that the story had been slaughtered by a graceless scamp in a hurry to get away on a pleasure trip.

In view of the attention these criticisms called to the story the author found no difficulty in securing a publisher for it in book form. It was considered too deep to have a large sale except among critical, analytical, philosophical and skeptical people, but it made a name for the author, and she has made a fortune.

I suppose I should have had the modesty to consider myself well out of a bad scrape and acknowledge my fault. To Howkins I did; to Miss Eaton I did not. I threw out a hint that seeing the story as she had written it was doomed to failure I had concocted a scheme to make it a success and make her famous. Her gratitude gave me not only her for a wife, but the management of her fortune.

EMERY FORSYTHE.

CULTIVATING THE CHILD.

How Any Trait May Be Fixed In a Normal Human Being.

There is not a single desirable attribute which, lacking in a plant, may not be bred into it. Choose what improvement you wish in a flower, a fruit or a tree, and by crossing, selection, cultivation and persistence you can fix this desirable trait irrevocably. Pick out any trait you want in your child, granted that he is a normal child, be it honesty, fairness, purity, lovableness, industry, thrift, what not. By surrounding this child with sunshine from the sky and your own heart, by giving the closest communion with nature, by feeding him well balanced, nutritious food, by giving him all that is implied in healthful environmental influences and by doing all in love you can thus cultivate in this child and fix there for all his life all of these traits—naturally not always to the full in all cases at the beginning of the work, for heredity will make itself felt first, and, as in the plant under improvement, there will be certain strong tendencies to reversion to former ancestral traits, but in the main with the normal child you can give him all these traits by patiently, persistently guiding him in these early formative years.

And, on the other side, give him foul air to breathe, keep him in a dusty factory or an unwholesome schoolroom or a crowded tenement up under the hot roof; keep him away from the sunshine, take away from him music and laughter and happy faces, cram his little brains with so called knowledge, all the more deceptive and dangerous because made so apparently adaptable to his young mind; let him have associates in his hours out of school, and at the age of ten you have fixed in him the opposite traits. He is on his way to the gallows. You have perhaps seen a prairie fire sweep through the tall grass across a plain. Nothing can stand before it; it must burn itself out. That is what happens when you let the weeds grow up in a child's life and then set fire to them by wrong environment.—Luther Burbank in Century.

THE GOLDFINCH.

Changes In Plumage That Are Puzzling to the Novice.

Most every one in America is acquainted with the goldfinch, but many people know the bird by the name of lettuce bird on account of its bright yellow color. Goldfinch is a very appropriate name, as the bright yellow of the male when in breeding plumage is like burnished gold. The female goldfinch is more modestly dressed than her mate. The changes in plumage of the male are very interesting and to the novice somewhat puzzling. Until the student becomes acquainted with the bird he may wonder why he sees no males during the winter. The truth is at this season the flocks of supposed female goldfinches are really of both sexes, the male bird having assumed in the previous fall, usually by the end of October, a plumage closely resembling that of the female and young bird of the year. The male retains this inconspicuous dress until late in February, when one can notice a gradual change taking place in some of the birds. This renewal of feathers is actively continued through March and April, and by the first of May our resplendent bird is with us again. The song period with the male goldfinch continues as long as he wears his gold and black livery, for it commences as early as the middle of March and ends late in August. Goldfinches are very cleanly in their habits and bathe frequently. Their nests are exquisite pieces of bird architecture, the inside being lined with the softest plant down. The mother bird is the builder, her handsome consort during the nest building time devoting most of his efforts to singing to cheer his industrious mate.—Philadelphia Press.

Grant's Presence of Mind.

An instance of great presence of mind was narrated by John Russell Young, says a writer in the Grand Magazine. Once during the civil war, when Grant was in subordinate command, he was reconnoitering alone near the enemy's lines. Suddenly he found himself confronted by one of the Confederates' pickets, who was for arresting him. "Sho! Sho!" said Grant, with the utmost coolness. "Can't you see I am reconnoitering in the enemy's uniform? Don't make a noise. I shall be back directly." And he walked away quietly until out of the picket's sight, then ran as nimbly as he could.

Dust In One's Eyes.

To "cast dust in one's eyes" perfectly explains itself. It is, however, interesting to know that Epaminondas at the battle of Tegea defeated the Spartans by masking his movements with a large body of cavalry. He caused the horsemen to gallop to and fro in front of the enemy in such a way as to raise a cloud of dust and so veiled the movements of his infantry and enabled them to take up a new and more advantageous position.

A Premier's Wit.

A woman once told Lord Palmerston that her maid, who had been with her in the Isle of Wight, objected to going thither again because the climate was not "embracing" enough. "What am I to do with such a woman?" she asked. "You had better take her to the Isle of Man next time," said Lord Palmerston.

Infrequent.

Kind Lady—I have nothing but some lobster salad and mince pie. You surely don't want that for your breakfast? Weary Walker—Oh, dis is me dinner, mum. I had me breakfast day before yesterday.—Cleveland Leader.

Winged time glides on insensibly and deceives us, and there is nothing more fleeting than years.—Ovid.

Couldn't Lift Ten Pounds.

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger.

Sick kidneys cause a weak, lame or aching back, and a weak back makes a weak man. Can't be well and strong until the kidneys are cured. Treat them with Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's the testimony of one man cured.

J. B. CORTON.

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Deppe, N. C., says "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance not even ride in easy buggy. I do not believe I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe. This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. I think so much of Doan's Kidney Pills that I have given a supply of the remedy to some of my neighbors and they have also found good results. If you can sift anything from this rambling note that will be of any service to you, or to any one suffering from kidney trouble, you are at liberty to do so."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Corton will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

G. B. Burhans Testifies after four Years.

G. B. Burham of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I'm glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." Sold by Kirks Drug Store.

GETTING READY FOR OPENING.

Exposition Building Being Repaired and Will be Opened This Year on Broader Scale.

A small army of men are now at work putting on the finishing touches preparatory to the opening of the Exposition. In all of the buildings there are crews of cleaners, carpenters, electricians and mechanics of various kinds that are rapidly placing things in order.

In Music Hall much of the floor is being replaced and a number of additional lights are being installed. As in former years the bare walls and heavy structural steel work of the roof will be hidden by a mass of bunting. Approximately 20,000 yards of it will be used, more than ever before, and all of it is now undergoing a process of fireproofing. The colors will be green, white and pink, and the plan to be followed in its draping promises to take away considerable of the rude appearance of the Hall.

In the main building a considerable amount of new flooring is also being laid. All of the interior woodwork is being repainted and here too additional lights are being installed. In fact the illumination of the buildings this year promises to be one of the features as it will be done on a more extensive scale than ever. A number of new booths are being erected by exhibitors and others are being rejuvenated. As in previous years the buildings will also be profusely decorated with bunting, of which the colors will be about the same as those in Music Hall.

Inside of Machinery Hall, aside from the many changes that were necessitated by the erection of the Hippodrome, the only change will be a new coat of paint and additional lights. However, the handsome building of the Hippodrome will give it an entirely changed appearance. It is rapidly approaching completion and with each day's work it grows more attractive.

All of the outbuildings are undergoing repairs of an extensive nature including additions, new floors, additional lights and painting.

In almost all of these there will be presented new and attractive features that will be keeping with the policy of making this year's Exposition "better than ever."

Even the city is lending a hand in this direction as for some days it has had a numbes of men busy repairing Duquesne way. The street is being graded in a number places so as to take out the ugly ruts that were formerly so conspicuous and will be entirely repaved with Belgian block. The enormous new freight station that is being erected just opposite to the Exposition by the Pennsylvania railroad is rapidly approaching completion and it, too, will add to appearances. In fact that section of the point as a whole is now really a more attractive spot than at any time since the Exposition buildings were erected there.

A number of exhibitors are already at work preparing for the coming season. In a few days there will be activity everywhere complete for the opening on the night of August 29. Quite a few old exhibitors will have new and novel displays while among new exhibitors there will be shown articles or various description that will be practically new to this vicinity.

During the past week it was announced that Pittsburg's favorite, Victor Herbert, and his famous orchestra, would be one of the musical attractions, following Creatore, the Theodore Thomas orchestra and Sousa in the order named. Roy Kanbenshue and his famous airship will also be there and will attempt numerous flights to the clouds that will take him to various parts of this district.

A Remarkable Fortress.

In the northern part of Madagascar is the most remarkable natural fortress in the world. It is occupied by a wild tribe who call themselves the people of the rocks. The fortress is a lofty and precipitous rock of enormous size, 1,000 feet high and eight square miles in area. Its sides are so steep that it cannot be climbed without artificial means. Within it is hollow, and the only entrance is by a subterranean passage.

Origin of the Sidesaddle.

The use of the sidesaddle for women riders is traced to the time of Anne of Bohemia, eldest daughter of the emperor of Germany, who married Richard II. of England. Previous to this date all Englishwomen bestrode their horses man fashion, but on account of a deformity this German bride was forced to use a sidesaddle, and the custom became general.

PASSED OFF PLEASANTLY.

Several Hundred Members and Friends of Orphans Home Association Enjoyed Excursion to Alliquippa Park.

The excursion which was run to Alliquippa park yesterday by the Orphans Home Association of the Jr. O. U. A. M. passed off in a pleasing and enjoyable manner. All of the valley towns were represented, including some fifty members and friends from this city. The train bearing the excursionists left Monessen on schedule time, arriving at the park about 10:30 o'clock.

From that time until the dinner hour, the different park amusements claimed the attention of all. After dinner, sports and games of all kinds were indulged in, including two games of baseball. The dancing pavilion afforded a quite popular form of amusement and many took advantage of the opportunity to trip the light fantastic. The ball games proved quite close and exciting and were witnessed by almost all of the pleasure seekers.

The first one between Fayette City and Belle Vernon councils, resulted in a victory for the former by the score of 4 to 1. In the afternoon the Fayette City boys tackled the Monessen council and were downed by the score of 2 to 0. With exception of the man at third base the Monessen boys played an errorless game.

Each of the councils represented, won at least one of the numerous other events. Returning, the train left the park at 7:30 o'clock and arrived here about three hours later. Although somewhat tired out by the days exertions all expressed themselves as having thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

BIRDS OF ILL NATURE.

The Cruelty of Swans as Displayed Toward Other Fowls.

The graceful swan is one of the most ungracious in its ways. Not only (in the breeding season) does a male bird resent the intrusion of a strange gentleman, but it will spend the day in driving off from its domain any unlucky geese which might be plainly assumed to have no designs upon its domestic arrangements and have, indeed, no desire beyond that for a comfortable wash and swim. It will also pursue even the most innocent of newborn ducklings while they unwittingly rejoice in an early taste of their common element.

When an only child has passed out of the cygnet stage of life and grown to full physical if not mental maturity father and mother swans have been known to fall upon and deliberately beat it to death with wing and beak. The gratified parents swam gracefully about the mere in which they lived while the great white corpse of their son lay battered and dead upon the shore. The following year, after another had been born to them and in infancy carried upon his mother's back, they began to treat him so roughly that, not being pinioned like them, he wisely flew away, and we saw him no more. Curiously enough, geese which have experienced rudeness from swans in the lusty spring have been known to retaliate in the calmer autumn, when the fierceness of their enemy had become mitigated. I have seen a gander leap upon the back of a once arrogant swan and pound away at it in the full enjoyment of gratified revenge.—Cornhill Magazine.

Gun Barrels.

To brown gun barrels wet a piece of rag with chloride of antimony, dip it in olive oil and rub the barrel over. In forty-eight hours it will be covered with a fine coat of rust. Then rub the barrel with a fine steel scratch brush and wipe with a rag dipped in boiled linseed oil. To rebrown remove the old coating with oil and emery paper, then remove the grease with caustic potash.

The Great Dancer of the Great Days of the Ballet.

The elder Vestris, who flourished in the middle of the eighteenth century, called himself the "god of dancing" and declared in all sincerity and without rebuke that his century had produced but three supreme men—himself, Frederick the Great and Voltaire. On one occasion when reproving his son Augustus for refusing to dance before the king of Sweden at the request of the king of France he said that he would not tolerate any misunderstanding between the houses of Vestris and Bourbon, which had lived hitherto upon the most friendly terms.

Madeleine Guimard made her debut when she was thirteen years of age and for nearly thirty years kept all Paris worshiping at her feet. This was a success of art and not of beauty, for Guimard was so aggressively thin that she was known as "the spider." She discovered the great painter David, who helped Fragonard to adorn her house with frescoes. Indeed, Fragonard, for whose paintings today fabulous sums have been paid, lost his commission because he dared to fall in love with his patron. Guimard had a theater in her own house, and her entertainments there were deemed extravagant in an age of luxury. Paris could not spare her to London until she was past her fortieth year. She was a sort of boudoir adviser to Marie Antoinette, and so great was the esteem in which she was held that one of the most distinguished sculptors of the day molded her foot, and when her arm was broken in a stage accident a mass for her speedy recovery was celebrated at Notre Dame.—Macmillan's Magazine.

THE BLACK BASS.

A Marine Butcher That Kills For the Pleasure of Slaughter.

The bass is like a roaring lion going about seeking whom he may devour. I have seen a good sized specimen get into a school of minnows and eat and stuff until he could not get any more into his capacious insides, then go off by himself, throw up what he had eaten and begin over again, after which he would keep on killing the poor innocent minnows, apparently for the mere pleasure of killing. Very young bass will attack minute water life which flourishes on water plants and get away with every one in sight, adopting the same method as their elders. To illustrate the extent of the cannibalism of the black bass here is the experience of a superintendent of one of the fish hatcheries in Pennsylvania:

"The superintendent made an actual count of 20,000 young bass about an inch long and placed them in a fry pond by themselves. He gave them food six times a day, and, according to his statement, each fish ate on an average three times its own weight of the prepared food every twenty-four hours. They were placed in a pond on the 1st of July, and on Oct. 1, when they were taken out, there were only 11,000, and the record showed that less than 200 died from sickness. It is reasonable to suppose, therefore, that in addition to the food given them by the superintendent there were about 9,000 bass devoured by their stronger and more fortunate companions."—W. E. Meehan in Field and Stream.

Caring For the Teeth.

Without good teeth there cannot be thorough mastication. Without thorough mastication there cannot be perfect digestion, and consequently poor health results; hence the paramount importance of sound teeth. Clean teeth do not decay. The teeth should not be brushed from side to side. If this is done the points of the gums will be injured and the teeth loosened. The upper teeth should be brushed from the top downward (from the gums to the ends of the teeth), the lower teeth from the bottom upward, also from the gums to the extremity of the teeth. It is essential to wash the teeth at night and wise to wash them also in the morning. Rinse the mouth after each meal.

Swiss Enterprise.

There is a weekly journal published at Zurich, Switzerland, called the Engaged Couples' Advertiser, which has agents at work all over Switzerland ascertaining the name of every girl who is engaged to be married and that of her prospective husband. These names are printed in the paper, with the addresses of the sweethearts and a description of their social position. Soon after the announcement of her engagement a girl finds herself almost in a position to start a shop, so numerous are the samples she receives from firms anxious to sell their goods to her.

HYGIENIC BREWING

The Beers, Ales and Porters of the Independent Brewing Company of Pittsburgh are impossible to be surpassed in purity, flavor and excellence.

We use only the choicest Northern Barley and hops imported from Saaz-Bohemia. The water used in brewing is taken from deep artesian wells. Our breweries are equipped with every new accepted feature known to the brewing world.

These are all-sufficient reason why our products are so delicious and wholesome.

The brews of the following breweries bear the "hall-mark" of superiority and are absolutely pure.
